

MCCN CREATION CARE LIAISONS

Job Description

Liaison job description:

- Visit the MCCN web site and become familiar with the resources it has to offer. Share with your congregation as appropriate.
- Receive monthly email updates from MCCN, some of which contain information especially for Creation Care Liaisons.
- Send us any news you may have on your congregation's creation care activities.
- Encourage appropriate bodies within your congregation to review the Creation Care Score Sheet found on MCCN's congregations page. (We understand this can take awhile and may not happen overnight.)

We hope that over time, your congregation will embrace care of creation as part of its mission and find exciting ways to live out this calling. We also hope you will find MCCN to be a helpful ally, a source of ideas and resources, a reminder that you are not alone in projects you may undertake.

Here are a few things Mennonite congregations are already involved in:

Community gardens
Local food potlucks, diets
Vacation Bible School with creation care theme
Earth Day worship services
Advocating for climate change legislation
Recycling
Making rain barrels
Geothermal heating
Energy audits
Carbon offset programs
Simple living
Gardening with native plants

You can read more about these and other activities by visiting our congregations page.

FAQ:

Q: My time is very limited. What if I don't have time to make wonderful creation care things happen in my congregation?

A: If there is someone in your congregation with more energy and passion than you can muster, please help us connect. If not, we welcome your eyes and ears. Even a pair of eyes—seeing the good, seeing what could be done better—is a valuable first step.
